Labette Community College dental assisting student, Desiree Boyes, recently observes a dental implant procedure. This procedure is among many that students will observe and assist with for clinical hours needed to complete the dental assisting program. The program is housed the LCC Cherokee Center near Pittsburg. The program, accredited by the Commission on Dental Accreditation, can have a maximum of 12 students. The dental assisting program, directed by Leigh Ann Martin, RDH, CDA, BGS, is nearly full with 10 students enrolled for the fall semester.
